Stanley K. Lacy Executive Leadership Series® announces members of Class XL

Mark Miles is named moderator

Twenty-five young professionals will become more effective community leaders as they learn about the needs and issues facing central Indiana as members of Class XL of the Stanley K. Lacy Executive Leadership Series (SKL).

The series each year selects 25 individuals to participate in this highly competitive program, which seeks to expand the ranks of community leaders by teaching and motivating members to address the needs of Central Indiana.

Class members are chosen because of their significant community involvement and professional achievement; their demonstrated interest in community issues; a record of participation and achievement in voluntary community activities; and their willingness to expand their leadership role in the community.

"Through their participation in this SKL class, these young professionals are investing in themselves as a new generation of leaders," said Rebecca King, SKL Program Director. "They are making a public commitment to playing a key role in Central Indiana's future and our community will be strengthened by their passion, insight, and leadership."

Mark Miles has been named the Moderator for SKL Class XL. Mr. Miles is President & CEO of Hulman & Company and a graduate of SKL Class VI. To ensure that the series is timely and topical, each class's moderator identifies aspects of broad economic and societal issues that are specific to central Indiana for the class to study.

"Since its inception, SKL has played an important role in our city's development. As a member of the sixth SKL class, I can bear testimony to the fact that many of the people who have been instrumental in the growth and development of the city are part of the SKL alumni group. They benefited from the personal connections they made through SKL. They learned what was going on in this city and how things really work. Often they discovered how they wanted to get involved and how they could make an impact themselves ," said Mr. Miles. "By serving as moderator in the coming year, I look forward to getting to know members of our city's next generation of young leaders and to helping them find their way as they seek to make their impact on our city."

Class XL will meet monthly from September through June. Participants will interact with local leaders, professional experts and community decision makers to discuss a range of community issues.
